9th century hymn of the Sicilian monk known only as Joseph the Hymnographer:

Let us all make haste to humble the flesh by abstinence, as we set out upon the divine and unblemished Fast; and with prayers and tears let us seek out our Salvific Lord. Laying aside all memories of wicked things, let us cry aloud: We have sinned against Thee; save us as Thou didst the men of Nineveh in days of old, O Christ King, and in Thy compassion make of us dwellers in Thy heavenly Kingdom.
